FRED A. CURRIER, Auditor.

To the Legal Voters of Belmont:

As your servants, and in obedience to the law of the state, we wish to report to you our work during the past year, and give you the necessary information in regard to the schools and school property of the district to enable you to act understandingly.

The school-buildings as a whole, are in good condition and are all insured, the policies having nearly two years to run. The house on the lower Province Road needs shingling and something should be done to protect the front doors of the building in the village from beating storms. We are certain that it would save its cost in one year. It might be a wise thing to ask the town to lay out a street to the village school-house and keep it in proper condition in order to insure safety to teachers and scholars.

It gives us pleasure to report a prosperous and highly satisfactory school year. We have never known more harmony in our schools than that which has existed during the year now closing. No trouble has been reported to us from any source. All of the schools have been quiet and orderly, and teachers and scholars have worked together in harmony. The various schools have shown commendable advancement and are in a condition of unusual efficiency, generally speaking. A very excellent progress has been made by those who have been regular in their attendance and have attended to business. We do not expect any measure of progress or efficiency, when the attendance is irregular and much of the time is spent in truancy.

A good improvement has been seen in the attendance of the scholars. This was especially true and noticeable in the spring and autumn terms. A slight epidemic of chicken pox and other illness, caused the attendance in the primary schools to be poor in the winter. As far as we have been able to investigate the matter no blame can be attached to any one. It was one of those things which cannot be avoided. We confidently expect greater improvement in the coming year. It must be impressed upon the minds of the people that law was made to be enforced and that in obeying it in sending children to school is an indication of patriotism and good citizenship. We must remember that the maintenance of our free institutions depends upon the intelligence of the masses.

The large number of primary scholars in the village made it advisable and necessary to have a fifth teacher and a fifth school. For this new school we prepared a room in the upper hall and furnished it with black-boards, chairs and tables to accommodate thirty-six pupils. It is considered the most pleasant room in the building. This school, which consists of the first grade, affords a much needed relief to the crowded condition of what has heretofore been known as the First Primary School. Much better work resulted, and, as far as your School-Board knows, it has given universal satisfaction.

In consequence of an increase of scholars in the Lower Province Road neighborhood we felt compelled to have a school there in the autumn and winter. It seems quite certain that a school will be needed there in the future. It cannot be denied the people who reside there.

We were obliged to shorten the school-year slightly to meet the expense of this school. Without this added expense the appropriation made at your last annual school-meeting would have been amply sufficient for a school-year of thirty-four weeks.

As far as possible and practical we have employed teachers who reside in town. We have had fifteen different persons in our employment for one term or more, seven of whom are residents of Belmont. We find this an excellent plan, as we have some excellent talent for teaching in our midst. We consider it unwise to make frequent changes in our corps of teachers when it can be consistantly and safely avoided, as it interrupts the work in the school-room. When a competent and successful teacher is engaged it is the part of wisdom to keep her at work in the same position. One good teacher of proven ability is worth a dozen experiments.

We refer you to the annexed statistical table for all other information. Thanking all with whom we have had relations for their courtesy and assistance we submit this report for your consideration.
